Chop and change

Having made a huge splash across the Atlantic and already making ripples here in the UK, TacFast Systems International's revolutionary mechanical fix system for flooring is set to get even more manufacturers on board as it paves the way for multi-floor commercial locations.

As Jonathan Stone, CCO, TacFast Systems International explains: "The TacFast system is the quick and simple choice for the whole spectrum of contract installations, and it is particularly suited to businesses that change flooring regularly. The unique TacFast interlocking disc and plate system allows floor tiles and planks to be removed and replaced without the need for time-consuming and messy adhesives, giving end-users the freedom to chop and change floorcoverings to suit their business needs."

TacFast consists of a unique LocPlate interlocking disc and plate system that sits above the subfloor and a hook and loop fastening system that rapidly attaches the floorcovering to the LocPlate surface. This allows for greater flexibility and easier removal than flooring adhesives, making TacFast very practical for businesses that require fast flooring changes.

"Businesses such as department stores or food halls in busy shopping malls often experience a high turnover of different concessions, all of which have different branding and require a different look to set them apart from their competitors. With the TacFast system, zonal-style flooring can be easily created," continues Jonathan Stone. "It's also the ideal option for seasonal promotions or for advertising on floor tiles, and it works with a whole host of different floorcoverings, including wood and laminate planks, carpet tiles, ceramics, natural stone and LVT."
